

STOP EXPIRED PRODUCTS BEFORE THEY HAPPEN

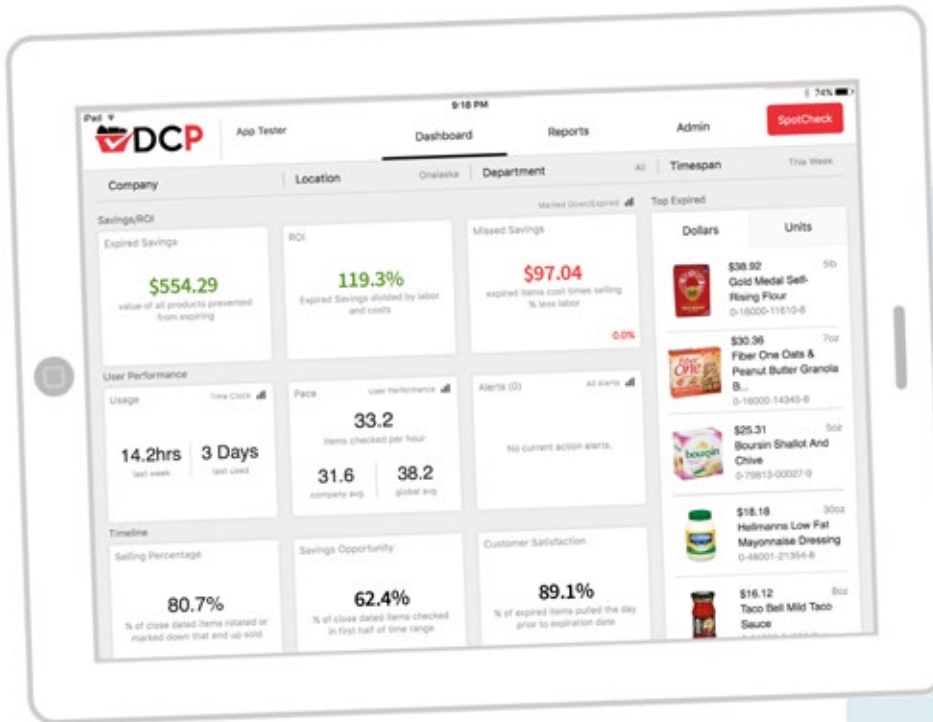

- Track inventory expiration dates on a per UPC basis and receive proactive alerts on inventory expiring soon throughout the store.
- Make the most profitable decision every time by utilizing sales data to guide decisions to markdown soon to expire items or leave at regular price.
- Protect your brand and delight shopper's by ensuring only the freshest, non-expired, inventory is available for sale.

“The biggest value it brings to us is security. Knowing that we are doing a better job than we’ve ever done before watching dates. It’s just a good feeling to know that a part of our business that has gone under the radar is now something we can watch, monitor, and control.”

-Steve Burkhardt, Festival Foods

REAL-TIME REPORTING:

- View highlights on savings, ROI, staff performance, top expired losses, and more in the Dashboard.
- Drill down on top loss products by units or dollars loss compared to sales over the same period.
- Take advantage of the new Enhanced Tax Deduction (cost + 50% of margin) for food donations through automatic deduction value tracking.
- Add accountability to date checking with progress and user reports on hours used, pace, and automated performance outlier alerts.

FAQ'S

Would we really need this if we improved rotation?

The simple truth is you can't afford to rotate center store. There is simply too much variety today to have adequate labor hours to rotate every case stocked.

What about the dates on all new products coming in through receiving?

We keep it simple by only focusing on the closest expiration date on the sales floor. While new inventory can have a closer date, the frequency is minimal and the labor cost to identify those far exceeds the savings.

What type of devices does the app work on?

Date Check Pro runs best on iPads as it can be paired with a grocery cart mount. It is also available on any Android tablet or from a web-browser (no offline mode).

Want to know what Date Check Pro can do for your stores?

Get started on your instant ROI estimate:

DATECHECKPRO.COM/MYROI